The Bicycle Sully.

It is the belief of some observers that the bicycle sully is responsible for so many of our very fast horses going wrong. It has increased the speed rate several seconds, and when a horse is so extended on a hard track as to approach the 2:10 mark or get below it, there is quite a strain upon cords and muscles, to say nothing of the jar to feet and legs. With divided heats the strain is more severe, and when the horse is asked to repeat the performance week after week, the thoughtful onlookers are not surprised to hear of a loss of form.
The fast trotter or pacer is not made of iron. He is flesh and blood, with an attending train of weakness. It has been a maxim for years that pace kills. The bicycle has increased the pace, and if we desire to keep our fast horses sound and ward off sore-ness, we must start them in fewer races or limit the number of heats. Asking a horse to trot all the afternoon down in the neighborhood of 2:12 for the purpose of stimulating pool selling is an injustice to the animal as well as to the man who has thousands of dollars locked up in him.
A change is sure to come, because the unlimited heat plan is proving dreadfully expensive to all who are ambitious to own the best.
When a man has a good round sum invested in a horse he does not care to use him up in a protracted fight for a purse of modest proportions principally to benefit those who share in the percentage on the sale of pools.—Turf Field and Farm.

Not Like That Here.

During the French Revolution of 1830, when the fighting was going forward, Talleyrand was pacing the lobbies of the Chamber of Peers in irrepressible agitation.
At each discharge of the cannon, he would exclaim: "Aha! The day is ours!" A friend ventured to ask: "Whose, monseigneur?
On which side are you?" when he answered: "I will tell you after a while."

Danger in Cold Water.

"I trust, Robert, when you grow up you will show yourself on the side of temperance and morality by voting the Prohibition ticket!"

"Oh! rats! Why, aunt, water's killed more folks'n liquor ever thought of doing."

"I am ashamed of you, Robert!
Can you think of one instance in which water judiciously applied, has caused death?"

"Well, what's the matter with the flood?"

Counsel for defense (describing the scene)—

The discussion grew animated (in a low voice) my client happened to let off his tiny pocket pistol (in stentorian tones) when his opponent retorted by dealing him a ferocious blow with his cudgel.
—H. Caffaro.
